WE NOMINATE

Alpheus Thomas Mason, one of the most perceptive Constitutional authorities in the land and a self-described "old-fashioned has-been from an older era, not an academic promoter or assembly-line researcher," who continues to make major Princeton news in his two areas of concentration—teaching and research bearing upon the U.S. Supreme Court. This past week brought the announcement that the 63-year old Mason had been singled out for the highest award Princeton University confers upon a Faculty member, one of the newly established McCosh Faculty Fellowships, while this coming Friday will be marked by the publication of a small, tightly written volume of high significance, "The Supreme Court: Palladium of Freedom."

The about-to-appear work, an expansion of a series of lectures Mason gave last spring at the University of Michigan, seems destined to promote controversy and to evoke scathing criticisms from certain elements within American society, particularly from those individuals and groups dedicated to the thesis that the Supreme Court has "over-exercised," or even mis-used, its guardianship of the Constitution. With characteristic forthrightness, Mason contends that "judicial decisions and Supreme Court opinions are among the greatest educational forces in America" and that "in passing judgment on living issues, in resolving complexities which are at any given moment puzzling and dividing us, it teaches the demanding lesson of free government."

At a time when the instrument of judicial review is everywhere in the headlines Mason comes forward with a compelling statement of democratic theory. He writes: "Without equal opportunity to utilize the crucial preliminaries — speech, press, assembly, petition — the idea of government by the consent of the governed becomes an empty declamation. Majorities — and this is a key point in democratic theory — are in flux. Tomorrow's majority may have a different composition as well as different goals. Defense of the political rights of minorities thus becomes, not the antithesis of majority rule, but its very foundation. The majority must leave open the political channels by which it can be replaced when no longer able to command popular support."

Successor to Woodrow Wilson and Edward S. Corwin as the University's McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence and the author of a dozen major volumes, including definitive, prize-winning biographies of Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Harlan Fiske Stone, this native of Snow Hill, Maryland, has no enthusiasm for so-called "team research" in the social sciences. "The academic discoverer," he has said, "has been eclipsed by the academic operator who's skilled in peddling so-called research projects and in the tactics of foundation solicitation, 'projectitis.' In teaching as in research, the eminent scholar sometimes gets lost by being picked as an administrative researcher to adorn a big project and supervise other people."

As a McCosh Fellow, Mason, a full-time Princetonian since 1925 and the first Princeton Professor to hold the rotating Ford Foundation Research Professorship, will utilize his leave to carry forward his study of the office and powers of the Chief Justice of the United States. In a sense, he points out, "this will be a culmination of work I have undertaken for many years" in that it is directly related to earlier writings and to his access to the private papers of several Supreme Court Justices.

For his brilliant portrayal of the Supreme Court as a "living institution" recognized as America's unique contribution to political science; for his devotion to Justice Stone's conviction that "my work as teacher will be far more influential and lasting than anything I do as a judge"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

EMERGENCY MET

In Hospital Power Failure. Failure of a line switch on a Wiggins Street public utility pole cut off electricity for 1,318 homes in Princeton late Sunday afternoon.

The flash, which lighted the sky with a bright pink glow visible for several blocks, occurred at 5:06 p.m. Half a minute later, automatic switches restored power to 918 houses, and by 6:25, complete service had been resumed—except for Princeton Hospital.

At the hospital, normal power was off for four hours, until shortly after 9 p.m., and electricity was supplied by an auxiliary battery system. It was the first lengthy power failure for the hospital since the hurricane of 1950.

Public Service spokesmen say that the power was there for the hospital to use by 6:25, but a malfunctioning of the switches that control the hospital's two sources of power apparently prevented the tie-in. Normally, if power fails, the hospital is automatically switched to another power source. It was failure of both sources that sent the auxiliary battery system into operation.

Maintenance crews under Nathaniel McKee, assistant administrator of general services, are searching for the cause of the failure.

Four patients were admitted to the hospital during the blackout: Mrs. Sophia Chwastyk, 72, of Skillman, a victim of an exploded stove with first and second degree burns; a woman in labor, and a year-old child and an elderly man, both with intestinal ailments.

Throughout the four-hour period, a team of physicians watched those patients who were in critical condition, and those who were dependent on specialized equipment, such as oxygen tents or aspirators (sucking devices for those with respiratory ailments.) Patients in oxygen tents were supplied with oxygen through nasal tubes.

A prematurely born baby was in an "isolette" incubator whose temperature, humidity and oxygen are electrically controlled. The incubator was switched to the auxiliary power facilities. One doctor stayed at the hospital the entire time, alternating his vigil between pediatric and maternity wards.

Lights Out! An auxiliary system designed for emergency use, the battery-powered plant at the hospital lasts for only four hours, and normal power was restored just as its life-span was about over.

However, volunteer firemen in Hook and Ladder Company Number 1 contributed auxiliary lines from their power truck, and fire companies from Dutch Neck and West Windsor were also ready if necessary.

Because of its emergency nature, the auxiliary system delivers electricity only where it is absolutely necessary. Switchboard, delivery and operating rooms, accident dispensary and scattered corridor locations had power. Lights in the accident dispensary were kept off in case a real emergency, such as a serious automobile accident, should occur, and light in this department was provided by Hook and Ladder for part of the time.

Flashlights provided eerie and fitful illumination for the rest of the hospital and for the nursing and administrative staff as they moved about. Big battery-powered lamps were set in the stairwells, because the power failure had knocked out all the elevators. Candles could not be used because of the danger of fire.

Student nurses, registered and practical nurses, laboratory and X-ray staff members all came in to help. It was the dinner hour, and although the meal had been prepared before the power went out, it had not been served. Relay teams of nurses and technicians shuttled trays of food from the kitchen upstairs to the patients, and dinner was served only a few minutes later than usual. Evening care for patients was completed before the lights went on. (Flashlights, incidentally, came from Borough and Township police, who produced about two dozen each, and from hospital staff members who brought them from home.)

Visitors were allowed during the black-out, and they helped keep patients cheerful. Hospital spokesmen said that the patients were calm and cooperative, and that the administrative staff was pleased with the smoothness of emergency operations.

"It gave us a chance to check out our Civil Defense preparations," said Mrs. Douglas Stuart, director of public relations. "Emergency switchboard operations, communication within the hospital without the public address system, use of the stairways by the bucket-brigade of tray-handlers—it was all a very practical exercise, and it went very smoothly."

Round-Up

Residents of University Place, College Road, Mercer Street and nearby areas were awakened Saturday around 7 a.m. by a band . . . to confuse sleepy Princeton undergraduates as it toured the campus. Its blue-clad musicians dropped sheet music marked "Property of the Yale University Band" . . . one well-fooled Princeton freshman commented, "Imagine what time they had to get up to come to Princeton, and now they have to go all the way back to New Haven for today's game" . . . actually, it was the Columbia University Band on its way to Philadelphia for the Columbia-Penn game.

The Associated Press lists Peter Van Ness of Princeton, N.J., as one of the crew members of the schooner "Windfall," for which a search was being conducted off North Carolina . . . the craft had left Mystic, Conn., bound for the Virgin Islands when the "Curlew," which it was racing, foundered . . . rescued "Curlew" crew members reported fears for "Windfall's" safety . . . Van Ness could not be further identified.

A recount in Lawrence Township has upheld the 70-vote victory of Charles Connell, Democratic Committeeman over Arthur Wenzel . . . election night results showed a margin of 70 out of some 5,800 votes cast, and the recount failed to change the figure.

Two minor fires last week: a bird's nest and soot caught fire in the chimney at 25 Alexander Street, home of Dean Luther P. Eisenhart, causing slight damage . . . a six-foot fence on Miss Mason's School property separating the school from Avalon Place caught fire . . . sparks from a nearby incinerator were the cause.

George Austin, 9, of 50 Humbert Street, rode his bicycle into the side of an automobile on Wiggins Street Thursday and was treated at Princeton Hospital for a bruised leg . . . Borough police said the boy came from between two cars stopped in a line of traffic and did not see the oncoming car, operated by Charles Oliver of Trenton.

The season's second measurable snowfall — with winter still more than a month away — whitened the Princeton area shortly after sunset Sunday . . . earlier, about an inch of rain had pelted the countryside.

The Weather Bureau's long-range forecast covering the next 30 days (temperature below normal, precipitation above normal) is already being borne out by November . . . only two temperature readings as high as the 50's were recorded last week while Tuesday brought a high of 40 and a mean temperature of 34 . . . Dartmouth this weekend . . . snow?

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

We were asked to name the safest form of transportation in which power is used. We didn't even want to hazard a guess, and it's a good thing we didn't, because it turned out to be the building elevator. If we had been asked when the first elevator went into use we would have guessed not too many years ago, and there again we would have been wrong. Primitive elevators, operated by human muscle, animal muscle, or water wheels, were in use as early as the 3rd century B.C. Some of the palaces of Roman emperors had elevators. The modern power operated elevator, however, is largely a product of the 19th century, when steam engines were put to their use. The powered elevator enabled a revolution in height of buildings, which in all previous history had to be confined to reasonable heights. The first inventor of an elevator could not have foreseen the skyscrapers that would come into being because of his elevator, but that's the way of evolution. It's taking place all around us all the time, but without our sensing it. For our part, we want to furnish you with the latest product of evolution in the transportation field, and make it and keep it the safest transportation you can own. are discussed. Township Committee met Monday night and talked about damaged sidewalks, the perils to children of high speed on a narrow road, and the problem of how to assess a sidewalk in a way that is fair to all — including the Township.

Following a brief public hearing, Committee approved parking bans on several streets, but set aside the Edgerstoune Road section of the ordinance, asking the Township engineer and the chief of police to decide, Solomon-fashion, which side of Edgerstoune should accommodate parked cars, and which side not.

Mrs. Hibben Ziesing, 80 Edgerstoune, and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Buck, 8 Winant Road, referred to the speed of Edgerstoune traffic, and after their remarks, Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman asked Administrator Joseph R. Nini to confer with the police chief about enforcing the 25-mile-per-hour speed on Edgerstoune.

The Abernathy Road sidewalk assessment, held over from November 5 for further study, appeared again on the agenda. Miss Margaret M. Murray, 135 Clover Lane, told Committee she would refuse to pay her assessment until scribbled, damaged blocks in the sidewalk had been replaced, and Mayor Fairman told her this would be up to the engineer, adding, "I hope we can settle the matter in a friendly way."

Committee decided to spend $123 next spring to re-seed certain properties damaged in the sidewalk construction, to take no action on a damaged pine tree until its owner submits a bill for what he regards as damages, and to continue the present assessment policy in cases where a black-top driveway interrupts the new sidewalk.

"I am an irate mother," stated Mrs. T. B. Fisher, 542 Snowden Lane, commenting on the one year that has passed since Committee asked the state to lower the 50-mile-per-hour limit on Snowden Lane.

Reviewing the problems presented by the state's authority over all municipal speed limits, Mayor Fairman said he thought that concerted action by all municipalities — possibly through the League of Municipalities — to get some kind of home rule on speed limits was really the only answer.

"After I serve my time on Township Committee, I'd be glad to spend a couple of years on a citizens' committee doing just that," Mayor Fairman commented.

Snowden Lane? Township police made a traffic survey last summer under state direction, but the state has not had an opportunity to evaluate the survey. "In two or three weeks maybe," said Mr. Nini.

GROWING PAINS

At Riverside School. The Township Board of Education has announced plans to build an estimated ten-room extension on Riverside School.

The addition was forecast for 1963 when the building was opened in 1960. Funds for the extension will come from the $63,000 left over from construction of the new Community Park School.

Mrs. Jess Epstein, chairman of the board's committee on Future Plans, gave September 1964 as the target date for completion. The building will accommodate 300 additional pupils. "We're getting 150 new pupils a year," said Dr. John J. McKenna, school superintendent. "This means six new classrooms."

Littlebrook, Too. Leonard Hymerling suggested that the board remodel the gymnasium at Littlebrook School into three rooms plus a library. "This wouldn't cost too much to do," he said. "I looked around out there and I believe this could be done by next September, but you can't drag your feet on it."

Littlebrook needs include a library, music room, storage and conference space. The school is at capacity as an elementary schools, Dr. McKenna said. "But we have been talking for a long time about bringing Littlebrook up to the standard of the other schools."

Architect Wanted. School Board President Richard Pearson told the members that the next problem is to "choose between interviewing about 18 architects or working with somebody we've had experience with."

The matter was referred back to committee. The board agreed that the architect would handle the work at both schools.

French Teacher Needed. Dr. McKenna requested permission from the board to hire a part-time French teacher to relieve Miss Anne S. Williams who is teaching 60 classes a week. The 353 pupils enrolled range from third to sixth grade. Class time varies from 15 minutes four days a week for the youngest group up to full class-time periods for the oldest.

Dr. McKenna estimated that the $2,000 to $3,000 salary could be met. "I realize that we are in deficit financing on the teachers' budget, but we could pick up $200-$300 here and there from other accounts." However, Finance Chairman George Grace reported $2,000 available from the invested unexpended capital funds. Dr. McKenna was authorized to hire the teacher.

Borough "Strategy." Mrs. Epstein told the board that her committee had been invited by Mrs. William Miller to meet with the Borough school board's committee on specifications for the Borough's planned elementary school. She stated that the list of statistical information requested by the Borough group had been compiled, except estimates of future needs.

"The strategy that they seem to be presenting," commented Mr. Pearson, "is that its essentially a stable problem . . . as they communicate it." He added that it is a matter of "whether you focus all attention on this one building project and not on all the buildings that may be needed."

VARIANCES NEEDED

For Seven-Story Building. To centralize all its business offices under one roof, Princeton University is planning to construct a seven-story office building on the southeast corner of University Place and College Road, opposite McCarter Theatre. The proposed plans for the building will be presented to the Borough Zoning Board for review next Thursday, November 29.

The proposed structure would be 93 feet high—too high for present zoning restrictions—and almost 80 feet square at the base. A conveyator would run vertically through the center of the building that would be capped by a 15-foot utility "penthouse." Because the construction site slopes sharply, the building would appear to be seven stories tall from one side and nine from the opposite. The two lower floors would serve as basements.

The University is seeking three variances from the Zoning Board and a special permit to erect the building. The seven stories would violate the current height limitations of the zoning laws which permit a maximum of only four stories. Zoning requirements for unobstructed frontage on a public street and side yard space on the University side of the building also would not be met.

On the height issue, University officials contend that the proposed building would "blend completely" with the existing character of the neighborhood. They added that nearby McCarter Theatre and Dillon Gymnasium are as tall or taller than the proposed building.

For a building this large, zoning requirements for parking would total 137 parking spaces. The University says it can provide 150 spaces on an adjacent lot. It also said that abundant open space would be maintained around the building so as not to cause traffic or parking problems. The University owns all the land around the site.

If the building is erected, Robert L. Johnstone, business manager for the University, said that his office in Nassau Hall would be moved. Other business offices which would relocate in the new building include those presently located in Upper Pyne on Nassau near Palmer Square, Lower Pyne at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, and in Stanhope Hall, Reunion Hall and Pyne Hall, all on campus.

DECISION RESERVED

In Male Case. Judge Arthur S. Lane of U. S. District Court reserved decision Monday in the Raymond F. Male-Hatch Act case. Mr. Male, former Princeton mayor, and State Labor Commissioner, has been charged by the U. S. Civil Service Commission with violation of the Hatch Act because Mr. Male made two speeches supporting the election of Richard J. Hughes for governor. Mr. Male was running for re-election as mayor of Princeton at the time.

New Jersey has filed suit challenging the Commission's jurisdiction and the Commission has moved that the suit be dismissed. Monday's hearing was on the Commission's motion for dismissal.

Alfred Abbotts, assistant U. S. district attorney, argued that, by tradition, the administrative hearing should be held first. Then, if Mr. Male is dissatisfied with the results of this hearing, he could appeal to the courts. Judge Lane is expected to announce his decision later this week.

SCHOOL NAMES TWO

To Head Major Gifts. Edward R. Farley Jr. and Justus T. Vollbrecht will serve as co-chairmen of the major gifts committee for the Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart. Norbert A. Considine Jr., chairman of the development committee for the $3,000,000 school, announced the appointments.

Mr. Vollbrecht, a long-time resident of Princeton, is president of the Energy Control Company, New York City, and

PERMIT DRIVER CHARGED

For Leaving Accident Scene. William F. Andrews, 17, 29 Carnahan Place, driving on a learner's permit, was issued a summons for leaving the scene of an accident and another for driving without corrective lenses by two State Troopers Thursday afternoon.

The officers, who witnessed the accident, report that Andrews, driving on Mercer Street, struck the left rear fender of a parked car and continued on. The other car was owned by Marino F. Ferrara of 58 Dorann Avenue.

Also issued a summons for leaving the scene of an accident was Lance D. Jiggins, 125 Clover Lane. Police said that Mr. Jiggins, as the licensed driver in the Andrews car, failed to tell the driver to stop. No one was injured.

On the same day, Princeton Township police issued a summons for reckless driving to George H. Munson, 25, Dey Road, Cranbury. They report that Mr. Munson, driving south on State Road, hit a telephone pole some 2000 feet north of the intersection of Ewing with such force that it knocked out a center section of the pole. His car skidded 38 feet along a large rock formation to the right of the road and continued on before coming to rest in an overturned position. In all, the car, totally damaged, skidded 322 feet or a little more than the length of a football field.

Mr. Munson was only slightly injured, according to the police. However, he was taken to Princeton Hospital for observation.

What's Thanksgiving
Gonna be?
It's olways mighty
Hot for me!
—TURK E. GOBBLER

Brother Gobbler has no illusions about the temperature in his immediate future, but anyone hoping for the last of Indian Summer to dress up his Thanksgiving dinner has another guess coming.

Not even sunshine is on the menu, the Man said, forecasting a cloudy day with a chance of rain or snow. It will be generally clear for the weekend, but temperatures will continue well below normal.

CENTER TO OPEN

For Alcoholics. An Alcoholic Information Center, the first in Princeton, will be open for one week, starting Sunday, to provide free information on alcoholism and its treatment to anyone who applies.

Sponsored by the National Council on Alcoholism, the center will be open from 10 to 5 daily. Evening appointments may be made by calling WA 4-6999. The Center will operate from an office in Thompson Court, 195 Nassau Street.

COMMUNISM IS SUBJECT

Of Hopewell Meeting. A town meeting will be held Monday in the Hopewell Elementary School under the auspices of Post 339, American Legion, and the Daughters of the American Revolution. A film on Communism will open the program at 8 p.m.

Guest speakers will be Edward Wysocki, Legion department executive committeeman and past national vice-commander; Robert L. Solan, deputy attorney general of New Jersey; and Henry Ryan, New Jersey State Legion Commander.

MEDAL TO BE GIVEN

To Florence Read. Mount Holyoke alumnae will present the Mount Holyoke College Alumnae Association Medal of Honor to Miss Florence Read of Princeton at the fall meeting of the organization to be held next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Thomas Page, Lawrenceville.

Former president of Spelman College in Atlanta, Miss Read was to have received the medal in June at Mount Holyoke's commencement, but was out of the country at the time.

Al alumnae are invited to attend the meeting, especially those who are new to the Princeton-Trenton area. Mothers of undergraduates now at Mount Holyoke are also invited. Miss Dorothea Collins will report on the meeting of the Alumnae Council she attended as representative of the Princeton-Trenton club.

News Of The THEATRES

FOO HSING IS "TOTAL"

Critics Give Praise. "Total theatre that offers pure enchantment" is the way the New York Times critic characterized the Foo Hsing Theatre presentation of "The Beautiful Bait," which opened in New York last week, and will appear in McCarter Theatre this Wednesday at 8:30 for a one-night stand.

The highly-trained youngsters who compose the company learn their techniques when they are very young, much as western children do if they have a gift for the ballet. Some performers, 16 years of age, have seven years of training behind them.

This is the first time the troupe has visited a western country, although previous tours have taken the children from their headquarters in Formosa to Bangkok and Manila. Wang Chen-tsu, director of the Foo Hsing, has said that the only thing he regrets about the north American tour is that he had to leave so many of his company behind: he has brought 40 performers from his troupe of 80 boys and 40 girls.

THREE IN TWO

At McCarter. Three plays in 24 hours is the schedule this Thanksgiving weekend for the McCarter Theatre company and playgoers who take in all three will encounter "repertory" in the full meaning of the word.

This Friday, the double bill of Sophocles' "Antigone" and Christopher Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. It will be followed at the 2.30 Saturday matinee by Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors" and on Saturday at 8:30 by Albert Camus' "Caligula."

The weekend will be the last chance playgoers have to see all of these productions. The final production in the current McCarter series, "Desire Under the Elms," will open next week and the rest of the series will be retired.

McCarter's staff has been urging parents to take children to "The Comedy of Errors" which provides delightfully broad — but sufficiently innocent — comedy for youngsters. The theatre has a family discount which allows children to be admitted at half price if accompanied by both parents.

The McCarter number, for reservations, is WA 1-8700.

"DESIRE" SCHEDULED

As Final Offering. An American play based on the legend of Phaedra and Hippolyta will bring to a close the McCarter Theatre "Mediterranean Heritage" offerings, a group of plays derived from the classic heritage of Greece and Rome.

The play is Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms," written by the Nobel Prize-winner in 1924. It will open in McCarter next Thursday at 7:30.

In the central role of Abbie Putnam (O'Neill's "Hippolyta") will be Irene Dailey. Gwyllum Evans will portray her husband, old Ephraim Cabot, and Alan Mixon will be Eben, the stepson with whom she falls in love. Jon Cypher and Edward Grover will portray the two older sons of Ephraim.

Appearing for the first time at McCarter, Miss Dailey will be remembered by television audiences who have seen her in "The Defenders," "Naked City" and "Twilight Zone." She received impressive notices from the British press two years ago for her performance in "Tomorrow with Pictures," which played London's West End. She is the director of a school for actors in New York.

George Keathley, the director, is also making his McCarter debut with the O'Neill play. On Broadway, he directed "Square Root of Wonderful," and has also guided productions of "Sweet Bird of Youth" and "Garden in the Sea." His most recent assignment was with Philadelphia's playhouse.

"MALE ANIMAL" OFFERED

By Community Players. For their first production of contemporary comedy for the 1962-63 season, the Princeton Community Players will offer "The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent. Six performances have been scheduled for consecutive weekends at Murray Theatre on the University campus: Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings of December 6-8 and 13-15.

IN O'NEILL PLAY: Irene Dailey will portray Abbie in Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms" at McCarter.

Edward Earle, director of the Trenton Studio of Performing Arts and choreographer at the Lambertville Music Circus, will direct. Members of the cast from Princeton include Thomas Richardson, Julia Fremon, Susan Lerner, John Lithgow, Bruce Raymond, Garrison Ellis, Virginia Brakeley, Greta Childs and Richard Coen. Others appearing will be Leo J. Cohen, Lawrence Township; Anton Schmitz, Franklin Park; and Virginia Maslowski of Trenton.

Miss Fremon and Mr. Lithgow are seniors at Princeton High School. Mrs. Childs, an original member of the organization, made her debut with the Players 29 years ago.

"CALIGULA" OPENS

In McCarter Series. For the first time in their "Mediterranean Heritage" series, the McCarter resident company offers, in Albert Camus' "Caligula," a cootemporary play of more than historic dramatic interest, a play for the thoughtful modern playgoer.

In his preface to "Caligula," Camus stated his credo that there is no "true theatre" without Language and style, nor any dramatic work which does not involve "human fate in all its simplicity and grandeur." He belongs, therefore, to the "Heritage" series not only by virtue of his subject matter, the last years of the mad Roman emperor, but his approach to his subject as well.

Camus also said in his preface that he felt he could not use "psychology, ingenious plot devices and spicy situations" as a dramatist, however much he might enjoy them as a playgoer. French critics, reviewing the work, referred to "Caligula" as a philosophical play, and Camus has expressed surprise at this. The only philosophy in "Caligula," he has said, lies in the emperor's statement that "men die and they are not happy."

It is possible that critics used the word "philosophy" to describe a play whose essential appeal is to the intelligence and the intellect. It is full of the interplay of words and thoughts and concepts, where another playright might have made of Caligula's tyranny and his aberrations a blood-sucking melodrama.

The story tells about the last three years in the life of the young Caligula — he is 29 at the final curtain. Apparently triggered by the death of his sister-mistress, he becomes compulsively obsessed with the impossible, and through a series of cruel and absurd decrees and ridiculous extensions of a perverted kind of logic, he tries to show that he is a free man.

In the end, he is killed by a group of conspirators whose leader, Cherea, points out that Caligula is not the first Roman tyrant, but is the first who "counts mankind and the world we know, for nothing.

What's intolerable, is to see one's life being drained of meaning, to be told there's no reason for existing. A man can't live without some reason for living."

Camus himself referred to this as a "director's and an actor's" play. "Stephen Porter, as the director, has not succumbed to the temptation to make of 'Caligula' a play of motion and action where it is not, but he has not allowed it to remain static, either, which must have been something of a problem.

He has, in Laurence Luckinbill, a young actor with the technique to project strongly a pain-wracked man with "blaack ulcers that fester in his soul." From his light-hearted performance as Antipholus of Syracuse in "The Comedy of Errors," one would not have thought that Mr. Luckinbill had this powerful Caligula inside him, but these pleasant surprises are one of the rewards of repertory.

Gwyllum Evans as the aristocratic Cherea, Dennis Longwell as the young and disillusioned Scipio and Edward Grover as a tough and cynical Helicon are the memorable actors in the cast. Louise Latham is a physically perfect Caesonia, when she keeps certain extreme facial mannerisms under control.

A blood-red used with grey, black and white sets the costume and scenery theme for this "Caligula." Milton Lyon's music is percussive and suited to the mood of the production.

PLAYHOUSE

The Manchurian Candidate (now playing) is a thriller in which numerous bits and pieces are scattered all over the place and then fitted ever so tidily into a well-constructed whole.

Frank Sinatra, Laurence Hervey, Angela Lansbury, Janet Leigh and James Gregory carry the action along at a breath-taking pace. Miss Lansbury and Gregory almost steal the picture, but Harvey is surprisingly effective as a dour soldier whom the Communists use as a guinea pig.

The variated elements that form the key to the solution of the baffling plot include the brainwashing of American soldiers captured in Korea, the exploitation of a U.S. hero by his mother and stepfather to further the latter's political career, mysterious murders by an American spy working for the Reds, and a recurring game of solitaire in which the queen of diamonds has special significance. Comment: a jig-saw puzzle of a mystery.

THE GARDEN

Lady and the Tramp and Almost Angels (now playing). Here are two Walt Disney returns, both aimed at the young people, but enjoyable at any age. "Lady and the Tramp" is a colorful canine parody of the ways of humans. To a youngster, it is simply an absorbing, sometimes scary, animated cartoon. "Almost Angels" concerns the Vienna Boys Choir. Their singing is heavenly . . . their mischief is most human. Comment: family show.

IT'S NEW To Us

READY TO SHOP?

Shops Are. Thanksgiving is here, and Christmas is there, and not nearly so far away as you once thought is was. We begin, with this issue, the first of a series of five shopping columns devoted, in a spirit of generosity and largesse, to helping you spend your money.

We shall start this week with Big Presents, the investment gifts that you think about and plan for a long time ahead. In the next four issues, we'll cover personal gifts for men and women; toys and personal gifts for children; household presents and decorations and the food and drink that help to make Christmas merry.

WHERE'S MY DUST CLOTH?

(Just Blow.) We know a man who gave his wife a gift certificate in a furniture store, and she says it was the best present she ever had. There's a lot of new furniture around this Christmas, much of it inspired by Mrs. Kennedy's research into the American past, some suggested by the Mediterranean designers of Spain, Italy and southern France, and some designed in the ateliers of Scandinavia. Something, as they say, for everyone.

Up the road in New Brunswick, Schwartz on Carroll Place, is showing the Heritage "Simpatico" line, a direct descendant of the Spanish influence, with deeply carved panels on breakfront and buffet, wood turnings repeated in brass hardware, and the influence of grille-work everywhere.

Look at the pecan-wood bed with four headboard panels of Carpathian elm or the storage cocktail tables with black plastic drop leaf tops.

What's Your Tree?

Name your tree. You an autumn foliage fancier? A connoisseur of long-needled pine? A broad-leafed evergreen?

Regents furniture store, on Main Street in Somerville, will make any kind of tree you like and plant it for you as well. Using French-made plastic foliage, they "graft" the branches to a real tree trunk (the bush type of tree) and plant the trunk in a bucket with white gravel, cementing it in so baby can't pluck it out.

Tree stands about six feet tall, or less, and it will "grow" all season in your living-room. Wincing slightly, the Regent people even said they would combine various kinds of foliage, if you're feeling pixieish. Well. . . .

What we want to know is, what about Joyce Kilmer?

In Drexel's "Etcetera" group, Schwartz has an unusual piece called an encoignure: a corner cupboard built tall and slim like a grandfather's clock with a glass front and triangular storage space below hidden behind the solid burled wood door.

A French secretaire is narrow, too, (small apartment, anyone?) with solid wood front, big and little drawers and a pull-out writing surface. Many pieces in this line can be had in black, green, red, gold leaf and various other fancies. For an example, look at Schwartz' delightful little tomato red settle with the name of herbs painted on the flat slats that form the back. It comes in green, too, or black, or white.

Comfort, Function. Tomlinson's Coulisse line provides Schwartz with a four-cushion sofa (smaller, if you wish) with deeply tufted back and very low arms. A chair in this line is round and low, with just a hint of wood peeking out from the tapestry fabric. Made for ladies wearing very full long skirts.

Viking's big offering of the season is System Cado, a wall-storage system of teak or walnut based on dowel-locked paneling, with—well, beauty-boxes (vanity, to you), bookcases, shelves, glass-doored cupboards and on to infinity, all incorporated into the paneling. It could be THE wall, if you are building a house. If you are installing it in a room that already exists, use the wall rails. No hardware shows in all this, by the way.

Sylve Stanquist's adjustable rocker lounge chair is still a number one piece at this shop. Designed with tall, wide, slightly fanned back, this chair and its ottoman lock into any of eight positions, and you'll be so comfortable you'll never get up.

A graceful little walnut silver chest, 47 inches long, has two rows of shallow drawers and all the charm in the world. Who said modern was austere?

For a lifetime home investment, buy Viking's convertible walnut desk, 50 inches tall, with its combination of open shelf space, "shirt" drawers, drop-leaf writing surface and cupboards.

UNITS FOR ALL

Children, Parents. In the Princeton Shopping Center, Ivy Manor is showing the Saga group, a modern line with dining and bedroom pieces characterized by brass-tipped walnut handles and a four-pointed star motif carved into the wood. Your favorite piece here will be the portable server with Formica top on walnut, and a leaf at each end of the narrow top.

Italian Provincial, with its formal classic lines, and French Provincial, with its curving grace, are both popular in this store, particularly in sofas. You'll want to look, also, at the quilted sofa that looks as though it came from an English country house, long, and deeply comfortable with down and spring-down cushions, four loose pillows at the back, and that cheerful floral fabric.

After they grow out of doll furniture, little girls like to dress up a room of their own and Ivy Manor offers two white bedroom collections to satisfy modern or old fashioned tastes. One is, generally speaking, Provincial, with touches of gold and curving lines; the other is as straightforward as a tomboy. The gold-trimmed Provincial line has a group that goes around a corner and all kinds of mix-and-add cabinets and such.

Drexel's "Apart-mates" is the current enthusiasm at The Rug Mart, where the stacking unit pieces are shown as the answer to storage space in a modern home. These stacking units, in walnut or colored matte plastic, can be lined up any way you like, reversed to show either side. The lines are spare and lean.

Old, Old South. Nassau Interiors likes the appearance of "James River" for Nassau Street and environs. This Virginia-inspired line features Queen Anne detailing and the most formal styling. A wing chair, currently in green-gold brocade, has curving arms that repeat the Queen Anne curve of foot. An occasional chair in the Chippendale style, and a high-backed upholstered "Martha Washington" chair carry out the formal, Colonial theme of the group.

One of its most useful pieces is a table-desk with tapered Grecian legs and inserts of two large dark wood squares into the lighter wood of the top.

ALL-OUT COLONIAL

Reproduced or Real. Lennox, the shop in Mt. Airy (Route 202, 3 miles northeast of Lambertville) that makes pine reproductions, has a vast and varied group of early American pieces. Consider a $495 pine Welsh "dresser" (cupboard) 67 inches long and seven feet tall, with doors, shelves and drawers without number.

A pine server ($139.95) looks like a little desk, with high, sheltering sides and one long drawer across the top. A child would be enchanted with a mere desk, 27 inches wide with little pigeonholes, and shelves and a drawer, and a writing surface that drops down from hinges. It's $98.50, in rubbed pine like the other Lennox pieces.

An adult could use that pine secretary desk with its pull-out candle shelf, ample drawer space and white porcelain knobs, and two adults could use the settle-style sleeper, which is a good new-fashioned day bed made in old-fashioned settle style with woden shelf at the top of the sofa, and wooden arms. Double or single.

Antique shops here in Princeton offer 18th century pieces in mahogany for the collector and connoisseur. Elmwood antiques, the new shop on Palmer Square, will send out any of its pieces—even the big ones—on approval, so that you can see whether the study will really take an eight-foot secretaire.

We like a tilt-top Pembroke table in mahogany from Richard Diner in High Street, Windsor, England, 54 inches long and 41½ wide. It tilts back to lie flat against a wall when not in use. $725.

Tables? For $110, you may have a single-drawer table 36 inches long, made about 1800, and probably used to store thimbles.

A lovely little Georgian card-table at Milholland and Olson on Stockton Street, has the simple lines you want in a side table. Good fnr, and small enough for, double solitaire. At the same shop, we found two small grandmother clocks, a hanging one with a Newark Mark for $500 and a country clock with hunting scene for $450.

If your interests in antiques takes you beyond furniture, Milholland and Olson suggests a lidded crystal bowl with a brilliant glow and true distinction. $120. Incidentally, this shop will prepare, to your special order, a child's Push-plate in nursery design, or in whatever adult design you prefer, maybe the golden ruffled grouse that the shop has on view. $20 each.

The Silver Shop on Palmer Square has a pair of Chippendale-style chairs from Sayreville, N. J., made for the Sayre family about a century ago. Now $125 each, they have been upholstered in a cream damask that would "go with anything."

One of the most interesting investment pieces for a traditional home would be Lennox' "Meeting House" corner table, 46 inches square, with wings for books or objects, eight fascinating little drawers, an apron in front and a single drawer beneath that. It would have to be THE piece in any living room. $375.

JUST FOR US

Custom Pieces. If you need a table for a modern home, Viking suggests the hand-crafted pieces of Jim Martin, a protogee of Nakishima, and now a craftsman on his own. Oblong trestle coffee tables, in deep walnut, with butterfly joinings in light wood, and a free-form table with routing around a knot, are superbly made and finished, and characteristic of this artisan's work.

He will also make, in walnut, cherry or maple, any other pieces of furniture you happen to have in mind. How about a gift certificate? Any of his Viking floor pieces are ready to take home, but perhaps you have something custom in mind.

Until January 1, by the way, Viking will be open Thursday and Friday evenings.

Mannings has informed us all of a renaissance in mahogany, and to commemorate the event, they are offering a table, wagon for about $1,000 in Hepplewhite-Sheraton, Chippendale, Henredon's Town and Country, and an early American design (You can have the Town and Country in wormy chestnut, in case you are a Republican, and disenchanted with Mrs. Kennedy's "let's decorate the White House" theme.)

It's a bachelor's desk, but anybody can play. You'll find it at Mannings, 30 inches wide, made of pine with a hand-painted design on the three drawers. A slide-out panel provides writing space. Another desk, called the Captain's Desk, is an authentic Gloucester captain's piece, in solid maple with tricky little side drawers, cabinet space and pigeon-hole top.

terference would result if WPRB were permitted to change to 103.3.

WPRB had first applied for the change in frequency in the spring of 1962 in cooperation with New York station WTFM, two years after it had increased its power to 17,000 watts. The change to 103.3 permits the station to be received from New York City to Wilmington, Delaware, making it the most widely-received, student-owned radio station in the world.

PRB is owned operated and managed entirely by students. It broadcasts 19 hours a day, seven days a week.

ALUMNAE TO GATHER

For Vassar Meeting. Members of the Vassar Club of Central New Jersey will meet for their annual luncheon next Tuesday at 1 in the Colonial Lounge of the Nassau Inn.

Mrs. Ralph F. Peters will report on the club's Scholarship Ball and Mrs. Hanford Fanum on the fall Alumnae Council meeting she attended in Poughkeepsie.

MUSICIANS TO MEET

In Club Gathering. A program of instrumental and vocal music will be presented next Wednesday at 8:30 by and for members of the Princeton Music Club when they gather at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taplin, 55 Armour Road.

The performers will be Mr. Taplin, piano; Joyce Gill, mezzo-soprano; John Ellis, piano; Vicky Pehta, violin, and Ruth Plum, piano. Louise Strunsky will assist Mrs. Taplin as hostess.

LIEDERSINGER COMING

To German Gathering. Carl Wolfram, German liedersinger, will present a program of songs in Princeton next Thursday at 8:30 when he appears in Wilcox Hall on campus under the auspices of the German Club of Princeton University.

Accompanying himself on the lute, he will sing from the music of several periods, including the classic, romantic, Baroque and medieval. A free-will offering will be taken.

BAZAAR PLANNED

By Princeton Wyman Club. The Wyman Club of Princeton will hold its Christmas bazaar Saturday, December 1, in the Princeton University Store from 9:30 to 2:30.

Proceeds of the event will benefit the Lady-Taylor Fund, established to meet emergency medical costs of graduate and undergraduate families. Mrs. Robert W. Morrison, chairman of the fund, is assisted by Mrs. Neil H. Frick and Mrs. Robert N. Cook, decorator for the bazaar.

FOUR LOSE LICENSES

Under State Laws. Four area drivers have had their licenses suspended under the State's 60-70 Excessive Speed Program and Point System.

They are, Robert Moore, 32, Herrontown Road; Ann G. Kaluza, 36, Battle Road; and Nancy Pellino, 50, Monmouth Junction, all 30 days for speeding. Roderick Pannell, 22, 70 Clay Street, lost his license for 60 days on points.

PARTY PLANNED

By Dartmouth Alumni. The annual cocktail party planned by the Dartmouth Club of Central New Jersey will be held Saturday at the Nassau Inn.

The affair will start immediately following the Dartmouth-Princeton football game in Palmer Stadium. It is open to all Dartmouth alumni and their guests.

MEETING SCHEDULED

By Goucher Club. The Goucher Club of Princeton will meet Wednesday evening November 28, at 8:30 at the home of its president, Mrs. Nathaniel McLean, 307 Shadybrook Drive.

Mrs. Earl L. Douglass of Armour Road, councillor of the club, will report on the 57th session of the Alumnae Council which she attended at the college this fall. Mrs. Douglass will accompany her talk with slides of the new campus.

Goucher alumnae in the Princeton and New Brunswick area are invited to attend. Mrs. John P. McLusky, 89 Meadowbrook Drive, secretary, may be called for further information. A small business report will follow Mrs. Douglass' speech.

CITED FOR HEROISM

Scout Given Award. Raymond Hullfish, a member of Boy Scout Troop 168 of Plainsboro, has received a citation for heroism for his role in saving the life of a 10-year-old boy.

The citation, presented to Raymond by the National Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America, includes a description of the feat. While fishing on April 21 with a companion, Douglas Cherrington, the boys' boat began to leak.

Deciding to swim to shore, Douglas became panicky and was floundering in eight feet of water when his companion pulled him toward the partially submerged rowboat. Raymond supported the younger boy until his calls for help attracted a nearby canoeist.

H. S. Cline of the George Washington Council of Boy Scouts, Trenton, presented the award at a court of honor held in the Plainsboro Elementary School. A similar scroll was given to the Plainsboro Lions Club, sponsors of Troop 168.

PLAY DISCUSSION SET

For Princeton Library. Camus' "Caligula" will be the subject of the next discussion of the Princeton Public Library's theatre series. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the library's staff room.

Professor Albert Sonnenfeld of Princeton University's Romance Language Department will lead the discussion which is open to the public by reservation. The program is based on McCarter Theatre's current Mediterranean Heritage series.

GIVEN THREE MONTHS

In Township Court. Charles Humphrey of 153 Witherspoon Street has been sentenced to three months in the Mercer County Workhouse in Township Court. Humphrey pleaded not guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Florence L. Coffee of Mansgrove Lane pleaded not guilty to a speeding charge but was fined $25. Carol George of Princeton Junction was fined $10 after pleading not guilty to making an improper turn.

BALDWIN IS SUBJECT

Of Book Review Group. "The World of James Baldwin" will be the subject of the second in a series of monthly book reviews to be held Wednesday, November 28, at 9:30 a.m. by the Princeton Public Library and the Women's Division of the Princeton Jewish Center. The meeting will be held at the Jewish Center on Nassau Street.

Books by Mr Baldwin to be discussed include, "Go Tell It On the Mountain," reviewed by Mrs. David Saunders; "Notes of a Native Son," reviewed by Mrs. Lawrence Houston; and "Nobody Knows My Name," reviwed by Mrs. Joan Levinson.

Extra copies of these books have been ordered by the Public Library. Additional works by Mr. Baldwin are "Another Country" and "Giovanni's Room." It is not necessary to read the books beforehand but familiarity with one or more of the works will increase one's enjoyment of the review.

Coffee will be served at 9:30 and the program will start at 10. The public is invited to attend and join in the discussion. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Joseph Dresner at WA 1-7009

NEW OFFICERS SET

By Daughters of Scotia. Thistle Lodge 229, Daughters of Scotia, will install new officers on Friday evening at the Odd Fellows Hall. Grand Deputy Mrs. Louisa Stevenson, of Lady Cameron Lodge 145, Trenton, will officiate.

The officers are: Mrs. Constance Henderson, Chief Daughter, Miss Christine Carnegie, Sub-Chief Daughter, Mrs. Mary Walters, Past Chief Daughter and trustee; Mrs. Agnes Cook, chaplain, Mrs Mary Young, recording secretary; Mrs. Sarah Forsyth, financial secretary, Mrs. Jean Toole, treasurer.

Mrs Gladys Wheeler, conductor; Mrs Jessie Stewart, assistant conductor; Miss Martha Wood, inside guard, Mrs Laretta De Witt, outside guard, and Mrs. Anna Livingston, pianist.

CHRISTMAS SHOW SET

By Hopewell Garden Club. The Hopewell Valley Garden Club will hold its Christmas green show November 30 at the Hopewell Presbyterian Fellowship Hall. It will be open to the public without charge from 2 to 9 p.m.

The theme of the show this year will be "Christmas Is For Giving." Co-chairmen are Mrs. Alfred Test of Princeton and Mrs. Thurland Farr of Hopewell. Mrs. Farr and Mrs. Donald Vollrath of Princeton will be in charge of the judges. Mrs. Elmer Timby of Princeton will assist in the staging.

Three arrangement classes, one a miniature and two for juniors only, may be entered by the public. The entire horticulture section will also be open to public exhibits. All entries must be placed between 8 and 10 in the morning of the day of the show. Additional information may be obtained from the co-chairmen.

PARTY PLANNED

By Hospital Aid Committee. The Hospital Aid Committee will hold a Christmas party next Thursday, November 29, at the Forsgate Country Club.

All members, aides and honorary members are invited and should call Mrs. Donald Forer at 448-1988 for reservations. The event will also celebrate the completion of a pledge to Princeton Hospital for its intensive care unit.

CHAIRMAN NAMED

By Watershed Group. James C. Sayen of The Great Road has been named chairman of the 1963 membership drive committee of the Stony Brook-Millstone - Watershed Association.

A trustee of the organization, Mr. Sayen has been active in open space planning in the Princeton community for the past two years. The association's membership campaign began last week and will continue until early December.

Concurrent with the drive will be a solicitation by letter for present members to renew their affiliation. The organization is a 13-year-old non-profit, educational association established for the conservation of the area's soil, water, forest and wildlife resources.

PRESS IS HONORED

By "E" Award. President Kennedy's "E-for-Export" award, presented in recognition of a business firm's contributions to the nation's export expansion program, has been given to the Princeton University Press.

The award was made by Jack H. Behrman, assistant Secretary of Commerce for domestic and international business, at a luncheon meeting in the Racquet Club, Philadelphia, on Monday. Herbert S. Bailey, Jr., director of the Princeton University Press, accepted the award.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Bailey said he felt that the honor should be shared by all members of the American Association of University Presses and particularly by members of the International Book Export Group. This group, to which the Princeton press belongs, was formed to promote the sale of scholarly and educational books in foreign countries.

In 1961, the sale of American university press books abroad amounted to 12.4 percent of total press sales for the year. Princeton's press sells one out of four of its books abroad. It has been estimated that 35.5 percent of the sales made by American university presses last year was in non-European countries, a figure regarded as particularly significant because these areas have the greatest need for scholarly books.

SHALL WE WALTZ?

Dance Is Planned. The annual Christmas Dance of the University League will be held Friday, December 14, at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, with music by William Lanning's "Pieces of Eight."

Mrs. Robert C. Axtmann is chairman of the event, assisted by a committee consisting of Mesdames Marc W. Bodine, Jacques R. Fresco, Robert A. Lively, Jesse W. Markham, Henry K. Miller and Kenneth M. Rendall, Jr.

DR. CHESEBRO ELECTED

Rotary District Governor. Dr. Paul R. Chesebro, headmaster of the Hun School, has been elected a district governor of Rotary. He was chosen at the meeting of the 751st District of the Rotary International in Atlantic City.

Dr. Chesebro's term will begin July 1, 1963. As a district governor, he will visit each of the 45 clubs in his district during his term of office. In June, he will attend a meeting of all district governors in Lake Placid, N. Y.

Active in Princeton Rotary since 1950, Chesebro served as president of the Princeton Club in 1957-58. He has been a member of the district nominating committee for selection of Rotary Foundation Fellows for the last four years.

STATIONS WILL CLOSE

For Holiday Weekend. All New Jersey Motor vehicle inspection stations and driver test centers will be closed Thursday and Friday, in accordance with the grant of a Thanksgiving holiday for all state offices.

The stations will resume normal operations Saturday. They will be open from 8 to 5 p.m.

GIVE FOR GOODWILL

Articles Needed. A retail store will be opened later this month in Trenton by Goodwill Industries of the Delaware Valley, and the organization has asked residents of this area to contribute used clothing, shoes, furniture and appliances which can be reconditioned and offered for sale in the store.

Located on the grounds of the Donnelly Hospital, Trenton, Goodwill Industries trains handicapped men and women to repair used clothing and furniture. After they have been trained by Goodwill, they can either move into industrial jobs, or remain with the organization in the repair or clerical departments.

MAILBOX

Mutual Recrimination Costly.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

President Goheen's reply last week to public criticism of the closing of College Road emphasizes the need for a fair, rational and mutually considerate approach to the grave problem of population growth and urban expansion which the Princeton community is facing.

The disquiet reflected in protesting letters is indicative of an increasing public alarm over a situation of which formerly the average citizen was dimly aware. Clearly, there has been a failure on the part of many of Princeton's residents to seek information on matters which vitally affect their welfare. It is clear, too, that the planners have failed to convey to the residents the critical nature of the total problem.

The question of College Road and cross-town traffic is only a part of the total planning problem of the Princeton area, a problem of such immensity and of such importance to our future, that every resource at our disposal, in the form of professional knowledge, collaborative planning and public participation, will be needed if we are to preserve the qualities of Princeton we all value.

The Borough, the Township and the University equally share the responsibility for the future growth of Princeton, and will suffer equally from inadequate, piecemeal planning and public ignorance and indifference. We cannot afford to waste our efforts in mutual recrimination over each new incident of change. These efforts must be combined so that each new development will take place as a rational part of a total project conceived with regard for the rights of all.

VIRGINIA ERDMAN
President,
Residents of Princeton

THREE NAMED DIRECTORS

Of New Swedish Firm. Three Princeton residents, officials of Mideast Aluminum Corporation, have been elected directors of a new aluminum extrusion company in Sweden.

Named were Ray B. Sowers, Shady Brook Lane, Mideast president; Richard G. Lamb, Mideast director and business manager of Auerbach Corporation; and John F. McCarthy Jr., Elm Road, Mideast director and senior partner of McCarthy, Bacsik and Hicks, attorneys.

Mideast, located in Dayton, has been assisting Swedish interests in establishing the company, tentatively called Skandinaviska Aluminum Profiler AB.

According to Mr. Sowers, Swedish nationals hold controlling interest in the new firm. The Sowers group and Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corporation will provide a portion of the $194,000 equity capital. A plant will be constructed at Vetlanda in southern Sweden and production is expected to begin within six or seven months. Twelve million pounds of aluminum extrusions were consumed by Swedish industry in 1961; 25 percent was imported.

NOTICE

Qualifications for Voting Membership in the Princeton Hospital Corporation

Notice is hereby given of the requirements for voting membership in the Princeton Hospital Corporation in accordance with the By-Laws of Princeton Hospital; as amended at the special meeting of the Corporation held on October 23, 1961.

ARTICLE II

Voting Membership

1. The annual payment by any person of not less than $5.00 directly to the Princeton Hospital Membership Fund during the calender year preceding the annual election, shall entitle such person to make nominations for the office of Trustee, to one vote for each vacancy in the Board of Trustees which may be filled at any annual meeting and upon any amendment of these By-Laws.

2. The payment of any person of $100.00 or more directly to the Princeton Hospital Membership Fund shall entitle such person to life membership in the corporation and to all the other privileges of voting membership without further annual payment.

3. Notices relative to the membership requirements of the corporation shall be mailed to all annual members on or before November 1 of each year.

4. There is no age limitation on membership. In order to be eligible to vote, however, all members, whether annual members or life members, must be at least 21 years of age.

This notice is not a solicitation but is published to inform the public of qualifications for voting membership in the Corporation.

Question of the Week

Question: Are you satisfied that the Russians have dismantled their missile bases in Cuba and shipped their rockets home?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Mrs. Stephen Swain, 403-B Devereux Avenue, teacher, Miss Mason's School: Yes, I think the matter is important enough that the United States is concerned with satisfactory evidence and so I'm willing to accept the evidence this country is willing to accept; namely, covered missiles on ships' decks.

Philip H. Krier, Trenton, administrative assistant, Forrestal Research Center: No, I'm not, based on so many promises and agreements the Russians have made in the past and never kept. I don't think our methods of inspection have been adequate enough. I think we should have boarded their transports. Anything can be under a tarpaulin. I believe we should continue to insist on on-site inspection. I also think that the latest development of the Red Cross deciding not to get involved in this question of inspection is a good thing. The Red Cross is more concerned with humanitarian issues; the investigating organization should be one more familiar with military matters, especially in something as important as this.

Mrs. Charles Mansfield, Princeton Junction, librarian, engineering library, Princeton University: No, I have some reservations and I would feel much easier if we continue to press for an on-site inspection. I'm reluctant to trust the Russians.

William Loman, 56 Leigh Avenue, employee of On Film, Inc.: I'm satisfied they have sent some missiles home but I am not satisfied they have sent them all back. Plus these bombers they have in Cuba; I think they should go. I think we should have some representative from the United States or United Nations enter Cuba and make a positive check rather than just rely on aerial pictures—they could have some bases camouflaged.

Mrs. Charles LaPlaca, 302 Nassau Street, housewife: It's hard to say. I feel things have not been settled 100 percent. I feel President Kennedy is still checking on developments, still negotiating with the Russians.

Dr. Charles Smith, 360 Ridgeview Road, retired physician: No, I feel you can't trust them. Although they can't hide a missile—it's too big—they're probably hiding nuclear warheads there. A person who has lived in Cuba for 40 years wrote a relative in the United States that this country would never get anything done until it threw the lying blackguards out. They have no respect for the truth. He said the U. S. will eventually have to go in and clean the Russians out.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shuman, New Hope, Pa., manager of Home Furnishing Shop: No, I just don't think they have. They may have dismantled part of their bases but I don't think they have dismantled everything. I definitely think we should press for some means of direct inspection. I also think we should force the Russians to remove their bombers from Cuba. I think Kennedy is right in this and I support him all the way.

Robert MacDonald, 23 Moran Avenue, graduate student, physics: In a word, no. I feel it is hard to really know what is happening in Cuba and that, perhaps, it is not necessarily in the best interests of those who do know to let us know. I don't mean to imply anything by this except that is difficult for the average person to say with any certainty if they have or have not dismantled their bases.

Mrs. Seymour C. Shuman, Rocky Hill, housewife: I guess I do believe they have dismantled their bases from the fact that the President hasn't felt it necessary to do anything more about it. I think, at this point, it would be best not to press for any on-site inspection. I think our U-2s would pick up anything if the Russians tried to rebuild their bases. I feel the best thing to do is show the Russians that we trust them, at this point.

John Mazzella, 34 Chestnut Street, carpenter: No, I'm not. I know they haven't. They may have sent some things home but I'm not satisfied they have shipped everything back. I want bombers—everything out. I just don't want Communism in the American hemisphere. That's it.

William Takash, 196 Alexander Street, carpenter: No. I don't trust those Russians at all. I feel there is something fishy going on down there. You can't trust them.

Mrs. Lena Collins, Trenton, secretary, Kai Soderman Insurance, 341 Nassau Street: No, I don't believe so. I just don't think they'd do it that easily. I have the feeling it just isn't true. I think we should take whatever steps are necessary to be absolutely certain.

Duane Tompkins, 2776 Princeton Pike, district manager, State Farm Insurance: Basically, yes. Looking at ships as they leave Cuba is a step in the right direction. Of course, without searching Cuba proper it is hard to say all the missiles are gone. I do feel we should have this on-site inspection as there are places you can't see from the air. However, I think the Russians have made an effort to dismantle their bases.

John Cooper, Mark Twain Drive, Hamilton Township, electrician: From the pictures in the paper, I think they have. But whether they have any more there that we don't know about, that is another question.

C. C. Chatten, 100 N. Main Street, Pennington, retired auditor: No, and nobody else does, either. From past experiences, we should realize promises they make don't mean a thing. They are a treacherous people. Their aim is to conquer the world. They're out to stir up trouble anywhere they can.

Clay Cumb, Graduate College, student, architecture: Yes. I think President Kennedy's strong stand—that the United States wasn't going to put up with their missile bases in Cuba—convinced the Russians that they should pull out.

Have a hearty, country breakfast . . . Scotch kippered herring, fresh country eggs . . . buttered English muffin . . . steaming coffee to brace you for the day.

Don't Miss Out On My Christmas Treasures!

While we're on the subject of furniture reproductions, the enlarged Furniture Barn at the Penns Neck—well, it used to be a trafic circle, but you know where we mean—has a trestle desk a refectory style made of northeastern pine, for $159.

And look at their 42 to 60-inch round dining tables with extension leaves, and distressed finish, $100 to $225. Chairs and sideboards match, and there are bedroom and living-room sets which have the same, sturdy-pine American look.

A Dutch cupboard, incorporating a dry sink, may be bought at the Furniture Barn as a separate base and shelf, or all one piece in three sizes, from $279 to $475, complete.

Granetz, the Somerville furniture store across the street from Regent, and allied to it, has a Colonial wing sofa for $169 with matching chair at $69.50, and a full-sized canopy bed in solid maple for $89.50.

SMALL AND CHERISHED

Incidentally . . . For one of those small pieces that can add a grace not to any room, look over the gold-leaf and print screens (4-panel) at Regent. You may order a free-standing screen in any style and finish to use as a room-divider, or just to look at.

Rug Mart's suggestion on the incidental side, is an eight-day grandmother's clock ($198) with chimes and a pleasing distressed finish (only the finish is distressed, the chimes sound fine) . . . Lennox has a Franklin-style stove $137.50 which burns wood like a little fireplace, and is cute as can be.

How to Spend About $1,000

Money rattling around in that little ole wallet? Lots of ways to get rid of it pleasantly during Princeton Christmas shopping, and if you have $1,000 to spend, we suggest you dispose of it in any of these ways:

Van Zandt has the International Cub Cadet with snow-blower, 7 snorting horses of power, electric starter and underdrive, for $900.

Milholland and Olson has a mahogany roll-top desk with green felt-lined writing area and double sets of drawers and compartments so that it's big enough for Him or Her, $1,000.

Gallery 100 displays a drawing made by Theodore Chassegrian, pupil of Ingres. A study of Three Heads, it's available for $750, unframed.

LaVake suggests one of two gold and diamond dinner rings, a cupola of 32 small diamonds on a series of golden wire strands for $2,100 or a turban of gold with a crown of 31 diamonds for $1,700.

Elmwood Antiques will sell you a Hepplewhite Sheraton secretaire-bookcase, eight feet tall, circa 1800, for $1050. Fashioned in a cherry-colored mahogany, it has fine inlay work and exquisitely simple lines. Acquired from Sotheby's, London.

University Store has color television sets from RCA and Zenith, with remote control. They start at $495, but climb on up to the telestar level, if you wish.

Silver Shop has a banjo wall clock with New Haven works, whatever they may be, and an eight-day pendulum mechanism. A naval battle in its fierce progress at the bottom of the banjo.

As a matter of fact, Silver Shop has some of the nicest heirlooms you could give a home-owner: hand wrought sterling silver pieces, made by a contemporary craftsman in Massachusetts from the Moulton pattern (simple and beyond fashion, as you know).

There is a pair for salad: a tulip-shaped fork and a spoon, for $58.50; a long-handled stuffing spoon for $3.75 and similar articles. Gleaming and simple, they bear the faint uneveness of patina that marks them as hand-made, and we think you will find them treasured.

Up the square at LaVake, we find Tiffany's sterling blackberry coffee set for $135, with the willowy pot and its blackberry finial, the sugar and creamer alongside. Vermeil demi-tasse spoons in a bamboo pattern are six for $43.

TO LOOK AT AND LOVE

Buy a Picture. We like to think of planning ahead for a Christmas picture that everybody will enjoy the whole year, so we stopped at The Little Gallery to look at two early 16th-century French paintings on parchment of the Madonna and Child, and a group of "Saints and People," ($100), an illumination from a scrap of an original Swiss manuscript of a Book of Hours.

In quite a different mood, the Gallery offers a signed lithograph of the Supreme Court under Chief Justice Warren, the Judges all shown in caricature profile, for $25 unframed.

Ink drawings of owls on rice paper show the birds as not only wise, but vexed, sly, fluffy, silly and heaven only knows what all. Dan Miller is the artist, $20 to $100 is the price range.

Meanwhile, at Gallery 100, they are showing a collection of French and English artists of the 19th century, among them a "Figure of a Sailor" by Volaire, in black and white chalk on tan paper, $100, framed.

Know what we're going to buy? A Spanish ancestor. She is $125, with a limpid look, lots of soft light, a mantilla and a nice gold frame. Those two Spaniards, Milholland and Olson, have put her on the block.

APPLIED SCIENCE

Need Ice, Snow? If you're dreaming of a cold Christmas, VanZandt can oblige with a Philco 2-door—no, not sedan—automatic defrost refrigerator with 14 whole cubic feet. The Frost-free 2-door box with 12.6 and the 14-cubic footer are both about $325. Another automatic defroster, one-door, is $249.95.

Daddy, out shoveling snow, will be using his Toro Snow Blower for $269.95, or the Snow Bird Snow Blower, ("a cadillac") with four horses at $239.95, and six horses at $329.95. All at Van Zandt's, where it really can snow. (An economy snow-blower by Springfield is a cool $199.95.)

TO HEAR AND TO LOVE

Stereo. The big breakthroughs that made things so exciting for music listeners are not quite such hot news any more, but stereo and hi-fi still make Christmas copy. The University Store has Fisher from $479 with FM multiplex, already built, or in components for you to work on.

Sherwood tuners are on the shelves at the Music Center, Palmer Square, and so are the Audio Originals' hi-fi cabinets like the model 303 which comes knocked down, or assembled. It's a Scandinavian design, $99.50, with record space, pull-out changer shelf and tape deck. Fisher wide-band FM stereo multiplex tuners are such a mouthful you need hi-fidelity to make yourself understood.

At Bamberger's there's Motorola FM stereo in a modern walnut cabinet, with nine tubes, two speakers that attach like wings, one to each side, and a $118.88 price tag. Speakers attached, this one measures 24 inches wide, 10 inches tall.

Magnavox is Bamberger's favorite console line for stereos, and the cabinet design is infinite. RCA has an exclusive here at Bambergers, a $288 cabinet with radio and six-speaker stereo.

RCA is the big name in TV here, too, and there's a black and white model on a slim stand for $169.88. Portables by Admiral, Zenith, GE Philco and Magnavox are lined up on the viewing range: take a look and take your pick. Color is by RCA and Zenith.

Friendship boats will want the $125 transistor AM-FM short-wave radio with a marine band and a Magnavox label.

Tune Me In. Van Zandt, in Blawenburg, likes the Philco label, and offers the 16-inch portable "Courier" weighing in at less than 20 pounds, accompanied by its own briefcase.

Clock radios at Van Zandt come from the little elves at Philco, and start at $19.95, with an eight-transistor for $24.95. Bamberger's starts the day with a clock-radio or two, a Zenith that puts you to sleep, wakes you up, nudges you and probably turns on the washing machine if you have it plugged in. Varying prices: the $43.88 is a pretty little thing.

But why play music when you can make it? The University Store will sell you a gee-tar for $24, although if you buy the $145 model, you may have more chance of sounding like Novia. Recorders, guitars, Bongo drums and all such are at the store and also at the Music Center on Palmer Square.

Of course, not everybody's hobby is Bongo drums. Take home carpenters, for instance. Their needs are served by Rorer's, the Hopewell hardware store, with a DeWalt saw at $239, deluxe model, $269. Compactool offers drill press, joiner and table saw for $79.95 each.

Guns at Rorer's are all gauges and barrels and prices and makes: Winchester, Remington, Stevens and Savage. You can get a 22 single-shot rifle for $19.65 or a single-barrel automatic self-loading shotgun for $134.95, with almost half a dozen other prices and models in between.

THAT SEEING EYE

What's On View? If he's got a gun, buy him binoculars. Mall Camera, in the Princeton Shopping Center, starts them at $24.95. And while we're here, why not a camera? Afga's new "Silette" is $57.45 for camera, case, flash and roll of film. Other Afga's, Revere, Argus, Konica, Bell and Howell and Polaroid models are at Mall too, including that old favorite, the Argus C-3 33mm with case and flash, for $39.95.

Gallery 100 likes Fujica's Automatic electric eye 35mm with its programming shutter and variable lens openings, for under $90. At the University Store, they're showing the Nikon F automatic reflex for $329.50 — one of those cameras that does everything but pose.

Kodak's Retina automatic III glistens behind the Bamberger showcase. This camrea, at $99.95, has an electric eye, 2.8 lens, 1/500 speed and manual controls if you want them. A very compact little camera, with precision rangefinder.

On the movie side, Bamberger's suggests the Bell and Howell 8mm with duo electric eye that shoots into the sun, if you tell it to. Successfully, that is. Zoom lens is here, with optional slow motion and magazine load.

The Revere Reflex power zoom, an 8mm electric eye, watches over things at Mall. Bell and Howell movie cameras here at Mall are equipped with electric eyes for as low as $54.95.

Gallery 100 lovingly fondles the Bolex zoom reflex for $330, and the University Store is not averse to it, either. All camera stores like the Kodak electric 8 that has a cassette for easy film loading. No need to thread.

Projection, that's the end product. Gallery 100 offers the

For Princeton, From Princeton

Down in the basement of the Princeton Playhouse, Palmer Square, Inc. workmen recently found a hefty Victorian dresser that had once been in the old Nassau Inn, years and years before Palmer Square existed.

Dusted and polished, the chest has been taken to The Silver Shop on Palmer Square, where it is now available for $150. It's a big thing of mahogany veneer with three full length drawers and a velvet-lined pair of top drawers, all with turned brass knobs. It stands 3 ft. 9 in. tall and measures 22 in. in depth and would be a splendid gift for someone who collects "Princeton."

On up the Square, Little Gallery has a William Faden map of the Province of New Jersey divided into east and west and known at the time as "The Jerseys." It comes from an original 1778 painting published by the New Jersey Historical Society, and it is framed in brown and gold, 28 by 36 inches. $55.

The gallery also has, for $175, a primitive, 1859 print of the New Jersey Senate drawn on stone by Otto Kirsch, with figures that are almost caricatures.

Bolex that can project slow motion — in the $150 range. Bell and Howell is still top favorite at Mall. Bambergers likes the Fairchild with sound facilities, for $259, as well as Bell and Howell.

Anybody listening? Mall has a Phono-Trix portable transistorized tape recorder no bigger than a pocket. (How big is your pocket?) It's $99.95. The Cipher tape recorder at $59.95, also at Mall, is referred to as the Cipher V e r y dressy.

Wollensak at $375 and Roberts at $299 a r e University Store offerings.

WE'RE FOR BROCADE

Invitations Out? While there's still time, the ladies among us better begin to sew for Christmas. Be sure not to leave tell-tale scraps on the floor.

Fake furs are lording it over things at Gretchen's, the fabric shop on route 103. Leopard, gold, green and cranberry red fur ought to give you quite a start for Christmas. Try a leopard sport shirt for some broad-shouldered tiger.

The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street, suggests that you look through the Simplicity pattern book for ideas, starting with the barbecue apron that's new this year, and perhaps venturing into the smocked pillow, that high-fashion novelty. Thus shop has gingham for those cross-stitched aprons, and soon will have orlon fleece for robes. Simplicity has a charming new skating outfit for girls, and some delightful lingerie patterns that call for smocking. A new wrap-around skirt that fits almost anybody, would be a fine undertaking for a grandmother who isn't quite sure about size.

Broadcloth for men's pajamas and arnel for men's robes are strong in this shop, and so are cotton prints which can be matched with velveteen for little girl's dresses.

Mother will choose, for a holiday party dress, a pure silk brocade — or maybe velveteen, or some metallic fabric. Gretchen's suggests cut velvet for a party, or a French brocade, 50-inches wide and flecked with gold. White silk and mohair is waiting to whirl out in a Christmas skirt.

Both Gretchen's and Fabric have Christmas felt in colors for s k i r t s, or tree skirts. Thumb through the swatch book of felt at Fabric and choose one of 50 different colors.

On hand on the shelf, there are olive, g o l d, black, turquoise, pink and royal besides the Christmas shades. Felt squares in several colors are 25c each. Felt by-the-yard is two yards wide, $3.75 a yard.

ALL THAT GLITTERS . . . Is Gold — or Diamonds. As a glittering rope of tinsel to tie up this package we leave you with a thought or two from LaVake's, the jewelry store. If you're the Cleopatra in your neighborhood, you will want the 18-karat necklace, modified choker length, made of three-quarter-inch curving gold crescents laid side by side all the way around, f r o m clasp to clasp, $425.

A floral pin is a circle of little rosettes, diamond with ruby center, ruby with diamond center, alternating all around the circle, for $1650.

For an Ivy League sweetheart, LaVake suggests the ivy leaf bracelet in 18-karat gold, each leaf separated by sapphires and diamonds, for $750.

Bracelet watches in this store might begin with the oblong one framed at the ends by sapphires and diamonds, with a gold mesh band. It's $625, but others go down in price to modest ones in the $200 price range. These have only gold bracelets, and no jewels.

To protect a valued ring, guards in sapphire, ruby and diamond make a welcome Christmas present. tSo does a single strand of pearls, $50 to $400.)

For a man, t h e r e is the Omega watch, thin as a cracker, in 18-karat gold for $150, or the square cuff-link with diamond center for $150 or the basketweave cuff-link in gold for $85. This gold basket-weave design has been used for a large collection of men's jewelry.

Next week: personal gifts.

Liquor License for Christmas?

We had no such thing in mind. We simply call to your attention an unusual number of home bars now on display for holiday use, and holiday giving. Pick your style.

The teak bar at Viking is 27½ inches wide, 38 inches tall with two box-shaped leaves that open out to reveal a well for glasses. There is a front door that drops down to allow access to the shelves.

Schwartz, in New Brunswick, shows Tomlinson's mobile cart with a sliding top that extends out on each side to open up the plastic-bottomed well that serves as work space. It's pecan and bittersweet wood, 90 proof.

Pennsylvania Dutchmen will like Rug Mart's olive green bar with hinged top that folds back like a chest. It's decorated with traditional motifs in gold and colors, and has a Formica work surface. Costs $198.50, with glassware.

In the same vein, The Lennox Shop in Mt. Airy has a pine "grog wagon" with a single drawer and wheels to carry it along. It's $159.50.

Manning's bar is a barrel made of walnut with brass bands, to hang on your wall. Glasses, martini pitcher and mixer, for $50. On the more conventional side, Manning's has a mobile bar for $225 in solid cherry with "cathedral stained-glass doors" of all things. Copper lines the dry sink, and pewter handles open the doors.

Bar, movable and stationery, at Ivy Manor come in old-fashioneds or v o d k a martinis. The most modern is walnut with a light and mirrors inside and white Formica to work on. Maple, cherry (mariscihire?) or walnut can be supplied for a traditional bar that looks rather like an antique washstand when it is closed. It has a hinged top, and the glassware inside, and some good traditional Formica to catch the drippings.

Would your life insurance pass this test?
Financial security for the family depends on how well these five basic needs are provided for. Will your life insurance and other resources
1 meet the heavy expenses that will occur at your death
2 cancel all family debts including mortgage on your home and estate taxes
3 furnish a living income for the family while children are dependent and so enable your wife to take full advantage of Social Security
4 provide enough money to carry out your plans for their higher education
5 give your wife a worry free source of funds after the children are on their own and Social Security temporarily ceases.
If you are in doubt on any of these points, call the Man from Manufacturers. He has a practical measuring device, the Security Graph, that will help you determine whether there are any gaps in your family's financial security.

FIRM TO MOVE

To Sorta's Showroom. Harland W. Hoisington, Inc., investment counseling firm, will move from offices at 10 Nassau Street to the former showrooms of the South Cadillac-Oldsmobile agency, next door, probably late in December.

Subject to the approval of the board of directors of the New York Stock Exchange, the Hoisington firm will become a branch of Clark, Dodge & Company on January 1, as announced earlier this fall. Harland Hoisington Sr. will then become an officer of Clark Dodge—again subject to Stock Exchange approval.

The move will give larger quarters to the firm, approximately 2,000 square feet in all. The former showroom will be utilized and the area to the rear, and some of the cellar space, according to Leighton H. Laughlin, of Hoisington, Inc.

Once the Clark, Dodge branch designation is official, the firm plans to add additional employees, and will, for a time in the beginning, have someone from the New York or Newark offices of Clark, Dodge in the Princeton branch.

The Nassau Fund has been directed by the Hoisington firm since the Fund's inception five years ago. It is planned to ask Fund stockholders for approval of the transfer of the investment advisory contract from Hoisington, Inc. to Clark, Dodge.

Clark, Dodge has 19 correspondent firms in 80 cities, and offices in New York, Newark, London and, after January 1, in Princeton. The firm maintains an investment research department in New York of 13 research specialists.

New tenants for the vacated offices at 10 Nassau have not been announced.

LEARNING CENTER MOVES

To Bank Street. The Learning Center, incorporated last June as a joint project of Creative Playthings Inc. and the American Book Company of New York, has established headquarters at 33 Bank Street. Previously, the Center had been operating from the executive offices of Creative Playthings near Cranbury.

The new organization is concerned with research and development in the field of instructional techniques and resource materials for elementary education. It provides tangible learning materials, ranging from number rods and geometric shapes for early introduction of mathematical ideas to plastic presentations of land formations for use in construction of contour maps.

The Learning Center's program is based on two years of intensive research that was originally organized under the leadership of Frank Caplan, president of Creative Playthings and an officer of the Center. Roland Glenn is the Center's research director.

Two other Princetonians are officers in the organization. Bernard Barenholtz, executive vice-president of Creative Playthings, and Norvell B. Samuels, president of the American Book Company and for many years director of the Princeton University Press.

Mr. Glenn reported that Center emphasizes the laboratory approach to learning. Classroom units called "learning laboratories" are now available in the fields of science, mathematics and social studies. Each provides an individual "desk-top" laboratory for each student, in addition to larger scale demonstration equipment for the teacher.

In its efforts to find techniques that would make mathematics, science and other disciplines meaningful to grade school children, Mr. Caplan reported that the Learning Center enlisted the cooperation of professional educators and authorities in the disciplines. He added that the organization would continue to rely on the guidance of visiting consultants for its future development.

SALES MANAGER APPOINTED: David W. Sidford of 51 Lovers' Lane has been appointed sales manager of the Nassau Inn. Active previously in sales and public relations capacities, Mr. Sidford will contact business firms and organizations interested in holding meetings at the inn.

F. O. HOYT NAMED

To Aid Carter-Princeton. Appointment of the F. O. Hoyt Co. of 195 Nassau Street to expand and supervise its sales organization was announced this week by Carter-Princeton, Electronics Division of Carter Products, Inc.

F. O. Hoyt, established 30 years ago, is a sales management and electronic marketing firm directed by Oakley F. and Richard D. Hoyt. For Carter-Princeton, it will supervise establishment of a world-wide sales organization, maintaining continuing supervision of its activities in this field.

Carter-Princeton develops and manufactures specialized thermoelectric semi-conductor junction devices and similar equipment in electronics. Carl L. Sonnenschein is its general manager.

NEW FIRM OPENS

For Industrial Design. A complete industrial design service will be provided by Paul Witte & Henry Leong Associates, whose offices have been opened at 33 Witherspoon Street.

The firm will offer new product design and styling, product design improvement, human factors engineering, economic materials utilization and manufacturing techniques, as well as product cost reduction programs. Mr. Witte and Mr. Leong have both had extensive experience in all phases of their field, from the designing of electronic computers and military monitoring systems to household appliances and corporate image programs. They advance as their basic philosophy the belief that "a product should communicate visually, functionally and economically with the requirements of the user.

THE CATCH THAT SET UP THE WINNING TOUCHDOWN: John Henrich (24), veteran Princeton quarterback, grabs vital fourth-down pass thrown by Pete Porietis as two Yale defenders close in. On the next play, Captain Dan Terpack raced final seven yards for touchdown that gave Princeton 14-10 victory at New Haven.

knew who had caught the ball in time to give the Elis a 10-7 advantage.

Either that, or they didn't know the rule which stipulates that a player (the quarterback) in position to take a T formation center snap when play starts shall be ineligible to catch a forward pass.

Fortunately for the smooth relations of Yale-Princeton athletics, the Tigers rolled 67 yards in the final period for their second touchdown and a 14-10 triumph. Coach Dick Colman said at his Sunday press conference that he believed Yale would have for-

INDIANS DUE IN TOWN

With Truly Great Team. A football team that has been rated in some sectors with the three best ever to represent the Ivy League will play Princeton Saturday at 1:30 in Palmer Stadium. And because Princeton has fallen somewhat short of the mark it had set for itself when the season began, the contest will be in the nature of an exhibition affair between Dartmouth's 1962 Ivy champions and a Tiger eleven that appears destined to finish in a disappointing three-way tie for third.

It's a matter of personal opinion as to which teams have been the top Ivy elevens through the years. Among them are probably Cornell in 1939 (8-0, including a decisive triumph over Ohio State); Princeton in 1950 (Charlie Caldwell was always inclined to give the first of his two unbeaten teams a slight nod over the second); and Yale in 1960, an extremely well-balanced team which averaged better than 30 points in its last seven games while rolling to a 9-0 record.)

Belief is widespread that Dartmouth will earn an equal rating with these three by the time Saturday's action ends. The Green comes into contest as one of the three major teams in the nation still unbeaten and untied and—despite having yielded 21 points to Cornell Saturday—as the top defensive eleven.

Coach Bob Blackman's stingy operatives also are among the top five nationally in yards allowed rushing and total defense. Five of their victories have included shutouts, and the fine balance their three-unit system affords has earned them top ranking on both defense and offense in the Ivy League. If the Green wins Saturday, it will be Dartmouth's first perfect season since 1925.

What Makes 'em Click. Blackman's team is solid for the identical reasons that a good professional team dominates its opponents. The Indians have a great quarterback in Bill King, a fine corps of linebackers led by 215-lb. Don McKinnon, who is being mentioned for all-American honors; a big, mobile line that will outweigh Princeton's by close to ten pounds per man, as well as squad depth, topflight blocking and tackling, and slick coaching.

King, who leads the Ivy League in scoring with ten touchdowns and has a fabulous pass completion average that tops 60%, earned all Ivy-status as a junior and is a sure bet to repeat this fall despite competition from such standouts as Gary Wood and Archie Roberts. The Y-formation attack he directs, with its reboots, wide sweeps and power blocking, is likely to be sheer poison to the spotty defense Princeton has shown all season long.

Chief ball carrier in addition to King is 180-lb. Tom Spangenberg, as good a halfback as the league has, while Chris Vanecura, a 160-lb. speedster, pairs with him and Tom Parkinson, 195, is the blocking fullback in the Y-formation. In addition to the scoring threat this backfield and its principal reserves create, Bill Wellstead is a sure-fire placekicker.

Up front, the Indians have a rugged, capable line which includes a pair of 212-lb. tackles (Dale Runge and Bill Blumenschein), and two guards, Ed Boies and Bill Curran, whose equally large size is extremely unusual for the Ivy League. The three-unit system Blackman introduced last September has paid constant dividends, as at Ithaca last week, when the starting unit was fresh enough to score 14 points in the final period to assure a 28-21 victory and the Ivy championship.

WHO WOULD HAVE WON?

If Illegal TD Were Margin. Rarely, if ever, in the modern history of intercollegiate football has an illegal touchdown brought the delayed reaction that Yale's pass to its T quarterback in the end zone produced Saturday at New Haven. The impromptu toss that sophomore fullback Pete Cummings threw to sophomore quarterback Ed McCarthy was accepted by all four officials, the entire Princeton team and coaching staff and virtually everyone in the Bowl.

Jordan Olivar, Yale coach, was quite aware that the TD was illegal, but it's been a rough season at New Haven and he wasn't about to tell referee Ed Meyer what a horrendous blunder he had just pulled in front of 40,000 fans and hundreds of thousands more TV viewers. Somewhat incredibly, no Princeton player and no Princeton coach feited the game had the illegal touchdown made the Elis the victors, but there would have been plenty of justification for refusal to do so.

It was an error of judgment on the part of the officials, and therefore one of the breaks of the game. Supposing the pass had been completed to an eligible receiver but one who had re-entered the contest illegally under the substitution rule. If a check of the game action showed after the final whistle that he was improperly on the field, there would have been no more reason for Yale to forfeit than if would have been morally obliged to do so under Saturday's circumstances.

So, fortune rode with the Tigers, who had enough left near the end of an afternoon of fumbles and intercepted passes to win despite the illegal TD. It was welcome peace-of-mind for Captain Dan Terpack, whose senior year has not been the bright season he must have anticipated, that he shot around left end on a reverse for the final seven yards into the end zone.

Ability to hang on the ball, a Princeton problem all season, would have broken the game open long before the Elis went ahead for the second time. In order, Greg Riley fumbled on the Yale eight; Bill Merlini had the ball stolen ball from him on the Eli 13 for a 65-yard return; and Cosmo Iacavazzi dropped the ball on the Yale three. Each time, the losers recovered to stay in the battle.

If Princeton had its troubles, Yale has them compounded. Confronted now with a strong Harvard team, the Blue can be virtually certain of finishing with only two victories and two ties in nine games. And on Saturday morning, a Princeton freshmen eleven that isn't the best in the Ivy crop lambasted the Bullpups, 43 to 15.

The game will go into history unique in the fact that Yale started a sophomore quarterback who had never played a moment of varsity football. It was hardly surprising that the Blue rarely made the big play and that its only touchdown was illegal.

It was a good thing from the Princeton point of view that something of the sad season was salvaged with victory over this traditional foe. Indications are that it may be some time before these two members of the Big Three return to the level of football as it is being played at Harvard and Dartmouth.

Winter Sports Season Opens This Month

For the first time within memory, Princeton winter sports will begin before November ends. The Tiger hockey team will open a two-day trip to Boston on Friday, November 30, with a game against Northeastern.

Next day, Boston University will provide Coach Norm Wood's skaters with a full share of opposition. The Orange and Black will open at home on Thursday, December 6, against Middlebury.

Boston College, St. Lawrence, Providence, Rensselaer Poly and Brown will all be in Baker Rink during one of the busiest Decembers in hockey history. The contest with the Bruins will open Princeton's Ivy League schedule before Christmas, another distinct innovation.

With Bill Van Breda Kolff launching his coaching career, Princeton's basketball team will play host to Lafayette on Saturday, December 1. Games away against Villanova and Army follow, with Colgate and Navy coming to Dillon Gym before a series of road games leads the Tigers into the 1963 Ivy race.

Biggest news on the winter sports scene this season will be sophomore Bill Bradley. The 6-5 high school all-American broke all freshman records last winter with a 30-point-per game average while sinking 57 consecutive foul shots—a streak he takes into the upcoming season with him.

Bradley's all-around shooting and passing and picturesque play will frequently fill Dillon Gym to capacity during the coming weeks.

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

In Basketball For PHS. According to the 1962-63 varsity basketball schedule released by athletic director Joseph Jingoli, Princeton High School will face 17 teams this season, two less than last year.

The Little Tigers will open at home December 14 against Hightstown. They will play the Rams away in January. Other home-and-home contests will involve Pennington, Steinert, Hamilton and Ewing. Single games will be played with Hunterdon Central, Franklin, Bridgewater-Raritan, Somerville, Freehold, Lawrenceville and Peddie.

The only newcomer to the present schedule is Bridgewater. Last season's opponents dropped include South River, South Brunswick and B.M.I.

Last year, in a remarkable turnabout, coach Tony Borzok's Blue and White players rebounded from a dismmal 1-15 record in 1960-61 to a fine 16-3 mark. Led by sharp-shooting George Tucker, who accounted for 37 percent of Princeton's scoring with a 24.3 average, PHS participated in the Group 3 NJSIAA post season tournament for the first time since 1956.

ALWAYS LOTS OF HOT WATER

WITH A GAS WATER HEATER

. . . and at every other faucet in the house — because hot water is supplied by the right size automatic gas water heater! An automatic gas water heater guarantees you hot water 24 hours a day . . . but to be sure you have enough for the whole family, choose a gas water heater that's big enough! Average families need at least 40-gallon gas water heaters!

LOOK FOR THESE THREE IN '63: The triumvirate that will lead the Princeton High School football team in 1963 are head coach Dick Wood and co-captains elect Jim McKeever (center) and Larry Madden. McKeever, 16, of 32 Dodds Lane, played every game this fall as an offensive and defensive tackle. A versatile performer, Madden, 16, of 16 Green Street, saw action as an end, tailback and safetyman. Coach Wood said that Larry would play the same three positions next year. (Staff Photo)

Sports In Princeton

From PHS's starting quintet of Tucker, Charles Pemberton, Danny Brown, John Bensinger and Hank Schmidt, only Schmidt will return this season. Two juniors who saw considerable action as sophomores last year — Larry Madden and John Barbour—will team with Schmidt to give Borzok a good starting nucleus.

The 1962-63 schedule: Dec. 14, Hightstown; 21, Pennington, away; Jan. 2, Hunterdon Central, away; 4, Franklin, away; 8, Hightstown, away; 15, Steinert, away; 18, Bridgewater-Raritan, away; 22, Somerville, away; 25, Ewing; 29, Hamilton; Feb. 1, Freehold, away; 5, Ewing, away; 13, Lawrenceville; 15, Peddie; 19, Steinert; 21, Hamilton, away; and March 1, Pennington.

HUN BLANKED IN FINALE

Loses To Delbarton, 26-0, A pace that produced a touchdown in every period gave Delbarton an easy 26-0 victory over the Hun School here Saturday in the final game of the season for both teams. The Red and Black won two, tied another and lost five.

The victors moved 50 yards in the opening quarter and 60 more before the half ended to take a 13-0 lead at the intermission. A 95-yard scoring drive marked the third quarter and a 70-yard march in the fourth period was capped by a touchdown on the last play of the game.

Hun was rarely across midfield as Delbarton's defensive play was solid throughout the contest. The game was the second in five days for the losers, who had beaten George School on Monday in a contest postponed 48 hours by rain.

BOWLING NOTES

Balestrieri Breaks Tie. Balestrieri swept its three games to break a first-place tie with Kase Kleaners and move into sole possession of the "B" League lead. With a total of 48 points, the leaders are six up on Kase and ten up on Jugtown Del.

Mike Zeccola captured high single-game honors with a 223 performance. He was followed by Bill Bathie, 212; Dick Edwards, 211; Bill Murphy, 211; Charles Perpetua, Sr., 210; Joe Baldino, 209; and Lloyd Henderson, 208. Edwards' 206 and Bill Penelli's 202 were the other games better than 200.

In the Tri-County Firemen's League, Lawrenceville took two of three games to hold a four-point lead over Dutch Neck. Rocky Hill was in third place with 38 points, six behind the leader and one in front of Kingston Dutch Neck has now won 15 straight games to move up from sixth to second in two weeks.

Mel Tindall bowled a 220 for the league's high game. A 216 by Elmer Wilson was the only other performance to net more than 200 pins.

In "A" League competition, Community Liquor and Yeoman's each swept three games to narrow Grover's lead to eight points. Yeoman's, with a total of 32 points, had the high three-game output for a team with a score of 2468

Paul Kettler of Community Liquor had the high single game. He edged out Yeoman's Marty Uman by three pins and was six up on Larry Anderson of Grover. Uman, a 147 bowler normally, rolled a 490 series to better his average by 16 pins per game.

Jefferson Plumbing doubled its lead over Decker's Dairy by sweeping three games from the English Shop. Jefferson, with a total of 56 points, now leads Decker's by eight points.

Lillian Burrough had the high single game of 193 en route to the league's top series of 534. She was trailed by Betty Frazee, 187, Sara Rose, 185, and Evelyn Walton, 179.

Obituaries

Mrs. Florence Lee Searborough Clark, 73, of 44 Nassau Street, died November 15 in Princeton Hospital. A medical social worker, she organized the first social service department at Mercer Hospital, Trenton, in the late 1920's, and directed the department until her retirement in 1956.

Mrs. Clark served 50 years at the Hospital, and in 1955 was the only professional medical social worker in the area. In 1930 President Herbert Hoover appointed her a delegate to a White House conference on child health and protection.

A native of Pennington, she attended Pennington Seminary, Columbia University Teachers College, and the Mercer Hospital School of Nursing. She was a private duty nurse as well as a medical social worker.

The widow of Kenneth Sherman Clark, she is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Frank J. Lohman of LaHabra, Calif., and Mrs. Louis Rolnick of Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y. The funeral was held at Trinity Episcopal Church, Princeton. Interment was at the convenience of the family.

Mrs. Marie Janick Hat.man, 82, a resident of Princeton Junction for 30 years, died suddenly November 14 at her home in Miami, Fla.

The wife of Richard Hafeman, she is also survived by two daughters, Mrs. George Seckel of Princeton Junction and Mrs. Lloyd Reok of Hamilton Square; a son, John R. Janick of Princeton Junction; a brother, Henry Russell of Revere, Mass.; a sister, Mrs. Edward McCreven of West Haven, Conn.; and six grandchildren.

The Rev. William L. Tucker of the Second Presbyterian Church, Princeton, officiated at the private service. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Henry Clay Irons, 65, an engineer closely associated with the creation of Palmer Square, died November 14 at his winter home in Ormand Beach, Fla. A graduate of Princeton University in 1921, he established in 1928 with his brother, the late William G. Irons, 2nd, a permanent scholarship in engineering in memory of his father.

Mr. Irons helped plan the international section of Rockefeller Center, and his firm was the contracting agent for the construction of the Empire State Building. During World War II, he left private practice to expedite construction work in the Caribbean.

A graduate of the Hill School, Mr. Irons was a member of the Princeton Club of New York, the Racquet and Tennis Club, the Piping Rock Club, and the Pilgrims of the United States. He was a director of the American Irving Savings Bank, the Continental Insurance Company, and the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York City.

His survivors include his wife, Mrs. Genevieve Irons; a son, Henry C. Irons, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Louise Irons Peck; and a sister, Mrs. Helen Irons Flanders. A memorial service was held in New York City.

Mrs. Sibina F. McManimon of 24 Moore Street died November 14 in Trenton. A native of Rochester, N. Y., she was the widow of Edward McManimon.

A mass was celebrated Monday in St. Paul's Church, with burial in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Robin Lee Harwood, 12 Bearfort Way, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harwood, died November 15, in Princeton Hospital.

Born in Summit, she is survived by two brothers, Michael and Alan; her grandparents, Mrs. Lee Ramsey of Watertown, Mass.; Steward Ramsay of Lundenburg, Mass., and Mrs. Eleanor Harwood of Boston, Mass.

Services was held at the Mather Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert Cope, pastor of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Burial was at the convenience of the family.

Mrs. Wahneita R. McNamee, 79, Princeton Road, Plainsboro, died at her home November 17. She was the widow of Frank A. McNamee.

Mrs. McNamee is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Gladys King and Mrs. Mildred Clark, both of Plainsboro, and Mrs. Maude Hickey of Carbondale, Ill.; a sister, Mrs. Louise Bodine of Yardville Heights; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The service was held at the Cole Funeral Home in Cranbury with the Rev. Robert Blackwell of Plainsboro Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Brainerd Cemetery.

Joseph D. Griffin, 75, died November 15 in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, his home since 1954.

He was born in Robersonville, N. C., attended Ft. Union Military Academy in Virginia and Pennington Preparatory School. A 1911 graduate of Syracuse University, where he also attended law school, he was a member of the American Bar Association and the New York Bar Association. He lived in Trenton until his retirement in 1954.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth E.; a son, Gordon D. of Princeton, and four grandchildren.

The funeral and interment were held in Ft. Lauderdale.

OLD MILL SITE

Only a site it is, unfortunately, but what a sight! High on the bank of a wide stream, overlooking the mill pond, upstream to a three-arched stone bridge, downstream to a small island—the picture book setting is there. So the old mill, sadly only a shell of its former self, but a fine source of priceless building materials: huge beams, wide floorboards, old stone. Almost 2 acres at an asking price of $13,500

TWO LINE TEASERS:

Small masonry house, heavenly double lot, nice rural but near-town area. Interesting possibilities. $19,500

Smallish ranch house, large living area. Paneled library, 3 bdrms. On busline in quiet area. $27,900

Expanded split near high school, 4 bdrms., 2 baths, paneled den, playroom. Fine area for children. $28,500

White birches & contemporary architecture, an attractive combination. Sep. din. rm., 2 fireplaces, 3 bdrms., 2 baths $32,900

Dogwood (pink & white) & gray weathered shingles, attractive too! 4 bdrms., 2½ baths, playroom, den. $45,000

Live-in inlaws? Included in this unusual space-for-the-money house is a separate 1st floor suite. $53,500

CHANCE FOR A BUY

on one of our favorites: the Tudor type town house in excellent condition where it shows and where it doesn't. 14 rooms inc superb kitchen, 3½ baths, playroom. Heated cottage, lovely landscaped, secluded grounds, stone terrace. Easy walk to town. Owner decided to stay, now really wants to sell, so a reasonable offer might take. $85,000

NOTICE: As of December 1, the initial billing charge for TOWN TOPICS classified advertisements will increase from 10 cents to 25 cents. The cost of the advertisement itself remains unchanged ($1.25 for 30 words or less) but the expense of carrying such charges for periods ranging from one to six months is so great that the billing charge is being raised in the belief that it will increase the number of cash payments. As in the past, there will be no billing charge for any advertisement paid for within six days of publication. 11-22-21

PRIVACY AND SPACIOUSNESS are keynotes of this custom home with an exceptional, well-treed, fenced yard. Entrance hall, living room, dining room and lovely kitchen are together. The big playroom with outside entrance is down (also a bath and a children's coat room). Upstairs, 3 bright bedrooms with their own bath. Guest room, master bedroom and bath are separated. Large basement and garage; terrace, 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths. Our exclusive. $52,000

A SMALL FAMILY looking for an appealing house in a top location would surely find this house to their liking. Entrance hall, large living room with a fireplace and book shelves, dining room, efficient kitchen, study and powder room on the first floor. On the second floor there are two bedrooms and a bath. You'll assuredly like the location; and if you want more room, your architect can easily solve the problem, $39,000

MELLOWED MODERN. A family with four children have lived here happily for six years. They have just signed a contract to purchase a larger home and are, therefore, most anxious to sell their present one. This is a perfect house for a couple or for a young family. Township location, within walking distance to schools and shops. Sizeable living room with dining area, efficiently planned kitchen, three bedrooms and one bath, carport and storage area. The fenced yard becomes a private, summer living room. Easily maintained grounds. Many trees. Exclusive listing. $22,500

WITH AN IMPRESSIVE PROSPECT of Princeton's historical battlefield from the front windows, this home is a builder's pride, an engineer's triumph (a distinguished engineer closely supervised the building of it and lives in it now), and a housewife's delight. From the tip of its special motor-driven TV aerial to its two available separate water systems (bath town and well), no detail has been overlooked in making this a house of exceptional merit, comfort and gentility. There are five large, sunny bedrooms upstairs. There is a stunning Italian verde antique marble fireplace in the capacious living room downstairs, a large dining room, a quiet, paneled study, and an airy, fully-screened porch downstairs. The kitchen is a model of efficiency and attractiveness. Ours exclusively. $69,000

ADVANTAGES GALORE If you are looking for a house which is reasonable in price, convenient in location, and easy to maintain, you really should see this one. It is but a few feet from the Princeton borough line, in an excellent neighborhood. It contains three bedrooms, and has a fenced yard which is just the thing for small children and pets. There are a living room (built-in bookcases and fireplace), dining area, pantry, and back hall with lavatory on the ground floor, three bedrooms and a bath upstairs. Full-size, dry basement, plenty of storage space. It's immediately available and ours exclusively. All this for $26,500

NOTICE: As of December 1, the initial billing charge for TOWN TOPICS classified advertisements will increase from 10 cents to 25 cents. The cost of the advertisement itself remains unchanged ($1.25 for 30 words or less) but the expense of carrying such charges for periods ranging from one to six months is so great that the billing charge is being raised in the belief that it will increase the number of cash payments. As in the past, there will be no billing charge for any advertisement paid for within six days of publication. 11-22-2t

NOTICE As of December 1, the initial billing charge for TOWN TOPICS classified advertisements will increase from 10 cents to 25 cents. The cost of the advertisement itself remains unchanged ($1.25 for 20 words or less) but the expense of carrying such charges for periods ranging from one to six months is so great that the billing charge is being raised in the belief that it will decrease the number of cash payments. As in the past, there will be no billing charge for any advertisement paid for within six days of publication. 11-22-2t
